A screenshot of a macOS Terminal window. The title bar at the top shows standard macOS window controls (red, yellow, green buttons) and menu items: "Terminal", "Shell", "Edición", "Visualización", "Ventana", and "Ayuda". On the right side of the title bar, there are system status icons including volume, Bluetooth, Wi-Fi, battery level at 19%, and the date/time "Mié 4 mar 6:38". The terminal itself has a dark background with light-colored text. It displays the output of the command `git log --graph --oneline --all -- git - less . git log --graph --oneline --all --`. The output shows a series of commits represented by asterisks (*), each followed by a hash and a short message. Colored dashed lines connect the commits to show their relationships: red for main branch merges, green for feature branches, and blue for pull requests. The commit messages include merge operations from various feature branches like "feature/Cindy-Reyes", "feature/Marlon-Nunez", "feature/Hugo-Canizales", and "feature/Rodrigo-Garcia", as well as documentation updates and initial project setup.
